METRO TOUR

The Moscow Metro is one of the most efficient and extensive metro systems in the world, but its real draw for travellers is the extravagant decoration of its soviet-era stations, each one of them a work of art in itself. The metro currently comprises 172 stations, and the system carries well over nine million passengers a day on average, more than the Paris and New York systems combined. The metro tour can be also incorporated as an in-between activity in daily program in order to get quickly from one place to another.

STALIN'S BUNKER

Stalin's Bunker" is a branch of Central museum of Armed Force. Complex was finished and opened for visitors in 1996. The creation of this object takes period of the "thirties" of the last century. It was a part of the State programme and it had to provide a defensive capability of the country. The object is connected with the center of the city (Kremlin) with 17 kilometers of the underground road. The bunker was covered with a stadium as there was a law saying that one can not bomb the place of big public gatherings. Tour of the Stalin's Bunker can add the extra edge to city sightseeing. Special events like dinners can be held at the museum and Bunker's restaurant.
